DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Receipt of applicant's amendment filed 9/17/03 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hebert (US # 4,213,448).

Hebert discloses in Figures 1-6 a counter-thermosyphon loop heat pipe solar collector substantially as described in applicant's claims 1-7 including a loop heat pipe (54) heating apparatus (14) mounted on a heating side, a cooling apparatus mounted on a cooling side, a partition (see unnumbered partition and item 59 at lower portion of Fig. 3), and a vertical narrow channel/piping element (34) with walls that functions as a capillary to draw fluid upwards (see col. 4, lines 56-68)). Hebert further discloses that cooling water is used in the cooling apparatus (see col. 4, lines 51-54), a damper/valve (44) at a top end of the vertical piping element, and the heat pipe (54) has a rectangular shape (see Fig. 3).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 9/17/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that there is a functional difference between applicant's partition 3 and the partition elements of Hebert. This difference is recited by applicant on page 5 of the response filed 9/17/03 that, "the function of the partition 3 of the claimed invention permits a resistance effect (changing the direction of a liquid flow) but not an adjusting effect (as the function of the device of Hebert) in that a vapor from the working fluid 7 in the upper zone 7A will form a driving pressure." However, the examiner notes that even if such a difference in operation is present there is claimed structure in applicant's claims that is distinct from that disclosed in Hebert. As noted in item 3, above the examiner considers that all the structural limitations of applicant's claims 1-7 are present in Hebert.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3749
